Pomp's To Open Season June 25

Because of the recent seasonally premature hot weather the Andover Recreation committee has decided to open Pomp's pond one week earlier this season, from June 25 to Aug. 26.

Construction crews are already at work setting up equipment, painting the bathing houses and docks. This season, as in the past, a capable and well-trained group of lifeguards and instructors have planned a full community and aquatic program consisting of swimming classes for children and adults, lifesaving, weiner roasts, corn roasts for evening get-togethers and community singings, climaxing the season with a two-day water carnival.

Pomp's will be open to its Andover residents every day of the season from 10 a.m. to dark. The guards will alternate for overnight duty, which consists of setting up road barriers at closing time, checking bath houses and equipment and warning nocturnal visitors to keep out of the water until regular day hours.

The staff will consist of Donald D. Dunn, head lifeguard; guards Otis Clark, Joseph Ratyna, Richard Kydd, Bancroft Fredrickson and Jack Arabian; and matron Patricia Black. All lifeguards are qualified Red Cross water safety instructors and first-aids.

Vacations Start In Police Dept.

Vacation periods have started in the police department and will continue into September.

Francis X. Beirne, clerk in the department, is enjoying the first week of his annual vacation, and Officer Calvin C. Deyerdmond has started his two-weeks' leave with a trip to Pennsylvania.

Reserve Officer Edward P. Pettoruto of 90 Main St. is doing temporary police duty at the present time.

Elect Miss Kyle Principal Of Indian Ridge School

Finds Violations Of Building Code

The use of a bulldozer for excavating for cellars before a permit is issued by the building inspector is in violation of the building laws of the town and subject to a fine of $100.

Building Inspector Ralph W. Coleman has found three such instances within a week where prospective builders had secured the loan of a bulldozer for cellar excavation and had the work done without permit.

The building laws say that, in relation to the erection or alteration of any building, that it shall be the duty of the building inspector to approve or reject any plans filed with him, and that no work shall be commenced until a permit is issued.

St. Augustine's To Graduate 36

The 36 graduates of St. Augustine's school will receive their diplomas at the 9:45 o'clock mass Sunday morning.

Numerous scholarship awards to the pupils of St. Augustine's have been announced. They include:

A four-year headmaster scholarship to St. John's Preparatory school and the Mary Mercer prize for general excellence, to Lawrence Joseph Gillooly.

A four-year scholarship to Central Catholic high and the Catholic School Guild prize for mathematics, to Paul John Keaney.

The Catholic Daughters of America girl scholarship to Pauline Marie Surette.

Miss Dorothy Kyle was elected principal of the Indian Ridge school after the school committee Tuesday night had accepted the resignation of Miss Jessie Brown, principal and teacher, who is retiring after 36 years in the local school system.

The committee instructed the secretary, William Doherty, to send a letter of thanks in appreciation of her faithful service to Miss Brown, whose resignation takes effect June 16.

Supt. Kenneth L. Sherman recommended the election of Miss Kyle as principal to succeed Miss Brown and the committee also voted her the usual increase of $50 per year per room, or $200 a year.

James S. Hart was voted an extension of his leave of absence until June 1951.

It was voted to elect Robert J. Collier a teacher in the public school system at his present salary of $3000 a year. Mr. Collier has been a substitute teacher for several months.

Horribles Parade To Open Carnival

Various groups are preparing to enter floats in the big horribles parade which will be one of the features of the Police-Fireman's carnival to be held on the playstead the week of July 3 to 8.

The horribles parade will be held the evening of July 3. This will be followed by fireworks at the playstead, an aerial act and a huge bonfire at midnight.

There will be matinees for children the afternoons of July 4 and 8. A midway, rides and other attractions will be available to entertain young and old.

Doctor Resigns Academy Post

Dr. J. Roswell Gallagher

Dr. J. Roswell Gallagher of 107 Highland ave., has resigned as school physician at Phillips academy and has accepted a position as college physician at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn.

Town Population 12,279 April 1

Preliminary announcement of the population of Andover has been received from the Lowell office of the bureau of census which places the town's figure at 12,279, as of April 1.

This figure is believed to be substantially correct but is subject to revision after returns of non-residents are credited to their proper locality. The official announcement of population will be made at a later date from Washington.

Arthur E. McCabe of Porter rd., is the census supervisor for this district and Timothy Welsh, crew leader.

Air, Ground Observers Post To Be Organized

Organization of the aircraft control and ground observer corps will be started here immediately.

This action follows a statewide meeting of civil defense leaders which took place in the Commonwealth armory, Boston, June 10 with 126 representatives of cities and towns in attendance.

Designed to familiarize the defense leaders with the air force's plan for protecting this area from attack by aircraft in case of a national emergency, the meeting was addressed by federal and state officials.

Albert Cole Jr., commander-elect of the Legion and deputy fire chief, has been appointed by the selectmen to organize the corps here.

"In view of conditions in the world today," Mr. Cole said, "it is essential that such a corps be fully organized on a stand-by basis, ready to go into operation on a moment's notice."

Enrollment blanks are being sent to all clubs, lodges and civic organizations in the town in order to reach as many volunteers as possible. Enrollment blanks are also available at the central fire station. Persons who served in the aircraft warning system during the past war are especially urged to serve again.

Made up of volunteer workers on 24-hour call the function of the corps will be to relay information on hostile aircraft to warning centers, where the information will be passed on to military officials. These centers are already established and in operation throughout the commonwealth.

A dress rehearsal of the new air defense plan will be held in September.

Playgrounds To Open June 26

The five town playgrounds will open June 26 and run eight weeks until August 18. The hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

The Recreation committee has again appointed James D. Doherty general supervisor with the following staff: George Snyder, assistant supervisor; Arnold Schofield, Robert Mitchell, Vincent Davey, Mrs. Shirley Cowdrey, Mrs. Alma Marshall, the Misses Isabel Dobbie, Jane Weldon, Rosemary O'Connor, Betty O'Connor, Mary L. Leary, Marguerite Goodwin, Marylyn Mulcahy and Barbara Hill.

Equipment will be installed on the opening day and registrations taken the first week. The regular program of handicraft and class work will start after July 4 together with the regular schedule of activities.

WEST CENTER PUPILS ON HISTORICAL TRIP

Fourth grade pupils of the West Center school under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. M. Cronin, enjoyed an interesting historical trip of Andover recently.

Leaving the school in private cars driven by mothers of some of the pupils, they first went to the Andover Historical society house where Miss Underhill spoke on "Early Days in Andover and Now."

After the talk they were guided through the rooms and grounds, saw many interesting antiques, and drove around to view some of the oldest houses in town. The parents driving the cars were Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Hird and Mrs. Belding.

BASEBALL

The junior high team defeated Salem, N. H. 8-3 in a recent game making the home nine's record 4 won, 4 lost. Most of these boys will be with us next year.

Notes

Monday at 10 a.m. the sixth grades from all the local schools were welcomed to the junior high school where they were introduced to their homeroom teachers for their first year in high school. They were also shown on a tour of the building and permitted to have lunch in the cafeteria where Mrs. Bertha Bevington, supervisor, spoke to them.

Tuesday morning the ninth grade was given standard arithmetic tests to determine the pupils' remedial work.

A special assembly was called in which the ninth grade plus the senior high were given slips to make out if parents were in favor of the new insurance plan.

For their outing at Crane's beach the ninth grade chose 14 captains who each had nine pupils in their group. That was so every pupil would be accounted for in a simple efficient manner. The following took charge: Janet Svenson, Robert Erler, Shirley Murray, Louis Mirisda, Norma Perry, Marie Rettle, Helen Andrew, Elaineumont, Elizabeth Hatton, Marymountain, David Wilkinson, Jamesolan, Robert Best and Normanomeau. Out of 130 ninth grade pupils 120 attended. They were transported to Crane's Beach by bus. Physical education teachers acted as lifeguards.

The talent show will again have to be cancelled. Due to ninth grade members taking part in rehearsals for final assembly, they will not be able to do their individual numbers. All seventh and eighth grade members may present theirs at the June 16 assembly.

Field Day

At the annual junior high school field day Monday morning in the playstead various teams took part in a list of sports which resulted as follows: Greens 56, Blues 53 1/3, Golds 47 1/3, and Reds 45 1/3.

Many tributes were paid to Eugene V. Lovely, retired principal of Punchard high school at the P. H. S. Alumni association banquet last Thursday night. "Gene" was unable to be present but Mrs. Lovely accepted the gift made by the association and, as photo shows, very graciously responded to the presentation. In photo, left to right, are Mrs. Mervin E. Stevens, Mr. Stevens, Mrs. Lovely, Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg, Mrs. Cregg and Mrs. Kenneth L. Sherman.

Many Pay Tribute To "Gene" Lovely

The annual dinner of the Punchard High School Alumni association held at the school cafeteria last week was highlighted by several tributes paid to Eugene V. Lovely, recently retired school principal.

Although unable to attend due to his health "Gene" was not forgotten by his former pupils and the presentation to him was accepted by Mrs. Lovely who responded fittingly. She was presented with a corsage.

About 100 members of the association were present. Donald Becotte, president of the association, introduced Mervin E. Stevens, who served as toastmaster for the evening.

Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg of Methuen, was the principal speaker. "Gene Lovely not only taught his boys how to win," said the Essex county prosecutor and former athlete at Lawrence high school, "he also taught them how to lose." He paid high tribute to Mr. Lovely and his record, at the same time recalling many athletic events in which he had come in contact with the former Punchard coach.

Among the many letters read from members unable to be present was a very fine tribute from Edward Doherty, coach at Arizona State university, former Punchard and Boston college star.

Harold Howe, new headmaster-elect of Punchard, was among the speakers.

The Rev. Stoddard Patterson of Milwaukee officiated and a reception followed at the Woman's club of Wisconsin.

The bride who was given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a gown of candlelight satin with bouffant skirt and train, finished with a deep flounce of nylon illusion. Her long illusion veil with wide panel of Carrick-McCross lace, which was made for the bride's great grandmother by the nuns in Ireland was attached to a headpiece of the same lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white lilacs.

Miss Ellen Haebler of Milwaukee and Pelham Manor, N. Y. was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Leland of Andover; Miss Joan Wishart of Richmond, Va.; Miss Judy Abbott, Miss Sallie Uihlein, and Miss Anita Eells of Milwaukee. Gowned alike in white frosted organdy over yellow taffeta, with wide brimmed hats of yellow organdy, they carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies, interspersed with green ivy.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Youngren wore a light blue marquisette and lace gown with matching hat and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Leland, the bridegroom's mother, wore navy blue lace with a navy and white hat and a corsage of white camellias.

John S. Lefebvre of Milwaukee was best man for his brother-in-law and the ushers included Arthur M. Hewitt of Milwaukee; John Sweeney of Andover and Donald G. Thompson, Kellogg Boynton and Roland B. Hammond Jr. of North Andover.

The bride was graduated from Milwaukee-Downer seminary and Wheaton college, Norton, and is a member of the Milwaukee Service club of Milwaukee. Mrs. Richard LeFleur of Westwood who was matron of honor wore yellow organdy with matching picture hat and carried yellow rose buds and lavender gladioli fleurettes.

AT THE LIBRARY

Within the past few weeks there has been such a pronounced variety in the themes of books that the reader is almost at a loss to know which of the pleasures offered is the one to take up first. Here are a few that seem particularly interesting:

The Unveiling, Payne;

From a girlhood of restrictions, obedience to traditions and disciplines, Esmat, a woman of present day Iran, developed into a powerful modern business woman.

The Mesh, Marchal;

This book won an important French prize and has been a best seller in France. Set in Brussels, it is the age-old theme of a domineering mother who uses any means to regain control over her son, whom she has lost to a young wife accused of murder.

The Diplomat, Aldridge

According to this author, these are the men who are arranging the world over our heads, and are influenced in their decisions by women of the type represented here.

Under The Skin, Bottome;

Lucy Armstrong left England to become headmistress of a school for Negro children in the West Indies. Beneath the calm exterior of the island she found new problems waiting for solutions.

God Had Seven Days, Misrock;

Four hopelessly disabled boys walked well and happy out of a veteran's hospital, proof of the possibility of the miracle for which one of them, Jimmy Richardson, an atheist, had begged.

The Unrelenting, Dodge;

An unusual story of the persistence of evil so strong that it permeated the house where it was fostered, and touched the lives of all who entered.

The Plymouth Adventure, Gebler;

A fictional account of the greatest adventure in history - the voyage of the Mayflower and the first settlement.

The Embroidered City, Gelfan;

An excellent picture of China today is drawn in this story of an American vice-consul and a girl on a UNRA mission, charged with the delivery of relief flour to a stricken city of inner China.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

SLOW POKE DRIVERS

The proportion of highway accidents caused by dawdling drivers can never be proved by figures.

The slow poke motorists and the heavy trucks that can do no better than crawl up hills are often a greater menace to highway safety than speeders.

Reaching these conclusions after a 2500 mile trip to observe traffic conditions, J. C. Furnas, author of the widely printed "And Sudden Death," urges that minimum speed laws be added to traffic regulation."

Discussing the menace of the slow-moving vehicle in the current Cosmopolitan magazine, this expert points out that "since many accidents sparked by slowpoking do not involve the slowpoke himself, he may not appear in the official accident statistics.

"The exasperated driver behind, who boils over, tries too risky a pass and gets into a side-swipe or head-on collision, receives official blame - as he should. Yet if the slow poke had not been cluttering up the highway, that foolish pass would never have been tried."

As a solution, the author recommends that all states adopt laws such as New Jersey's which require drivers to operate "at a careful and prudent speed, not greater nor less than is reasonable and proper."

Furnas acknowledges that the answer to the slow truck problem is not so simple. He says that, "heavy over-the-road rigs doomed to slowness uphill have become crucial cogs in the American economic machine. To handicap their operations would cripple the nation, but regulation could discourage the more flagrant sins."

The expert concludes that "the world of cars and highways must make up its mind that, contrary to older ideas, slowness is not necessarily safer nor speed, as such, dangerous."

VIEWS OF THE NEWS

BY LEONARD F. JAMES

"Concessions of fear." The modern word for concessions is "appeasement." In foreign relations nations must be prepared to compromise, to make concessions. But such compromises must never give away basic principles. Whenever a nation gives in to political blackmail, or leads from weakness, it is appeasing. And there is only one end down the road of appeasement - war or subjugation.

Is Peace the Absence of War?

There are people today who feel frustrated because we have not been able to make any progress with Russia. They feel that further attempts are useless, that the costs of trying to prepare ourselves are prohibitive, that perhaps we'd better try to make a deal with Russia. They feel that appeasement is cheaper, that somehow it might buy peace. And they are right. Appeasement could perhaps buy peace. But they should realize that peace is not merely the absence of war. There is peace in Russia, in Czechoslovakia, in Poland - if peace is the opposite of war. But it is not peace alone that we should be concerned with. Peace without the right to work, to criticize, to eat, except by government decree, is slavery. Once we give in to Russia, there can be no second try. There is no referee to call off the fight and give us a second chance. Neither is there peace.

Great Britain and France once tried appeasement. Their desire for peace was so strong that they bent their efforts not to prevent aggression but to avoid war. For there is a vast difference. And they decided that if war should come, they would stay out at any cost. They nearly went down for the final count, when their very appeasement brought war to their doors.

In late 1937 Hitler called a meeting of his political and military leaders to discuss the future of Germany. He meant to extend German frontiers by peaceful means if possible, by war if necessary. And the first steps would be the consolidation of Greater Germany, expansion into central Europe to get food supplies. Then on eastwards into the rich fam-

Two local boys, Everett Lawrence and Albert Dimlich, received their degrees from Bates college this week. Both boys have been prominent at the Maine college and Mr. Dimlich, besides being an exceptionally good student, has been prominent in athletics.

The public bathing beaches at Pumps pond and Hussey's will open Monday. The Cross Coal company will again provide a public service by donating the use of one of its trucks to transport children to and from the pond.

All the organizations of St. Augustine's church with the Rev. Thomas B. Austin as the general chairman, worked hard to make the carnival on the parochial school grounds a complete success.

Helen H. Tower received her M. S. in hygiene and physical education from Wellesley college, the Alma Mater of both her mother, Mrs. Oswald Tower, and her sister, Marietta.

The Andover Harvard club awarded a full scholarship to Gerald Lenane, son of Mrs. Frank Lenane of 100 Main st., who graduated from Phillips last week at the age of 16 years. He won four scholarships at the academy and was also awarded his letter in track. He will enter Harvard in the fall.

Two long-time teachers at Phillips academy, Guy H. Eaton and Charles A. Parmelee, were honored by their fellow faculty members as their retirements at the annual luncheon.

lands of the Russian, Ukraine. Therefore Austria and Czechoslovakia must go as a prelude to eastward expansion.

Aggression Exchanged For Peace

But his lieutenants advised that Germany was not ready to face strong opposition. Was not Austrian independence guaranteed by Britain, France and Italy? Had not France and Russia guaranteed the independence of Czechoslovakia? Furthermore, Germany would have difficulty in breaking through the magnificent natural and military fortifications of the Czechs. Hitler swept aside all opposition. He believed that his objective could be gained without war. He had good reason to think so.

In 1931 Japan had invaded China and grabbed Manchuria, contrary to several international agreements to which Japan was a party. The great powers had done nothing except rebuke Japan. In 1935 Italy had attacked Ethiopia in violation of agreements. But Britain and France had decided to buy peace at the expense of Ethiopia. And Hitler knew that Englishmen knew little more about Czechs or Poles than they did about Chinese or Ethiopians. Perhaps they cared less. Hitler too had tested out the strength of allied collective action - and found it wanting. In 1935, contrary to the peace settlements, he announced compulsory military training for Germany, started an air-force, and later sent his troops into the Rhineland to remilitarize it.

Peace At Any Price - Any!

Hitler was correctly reading the pulse of Western resistance. It was weak indeed, almost stopped. The Western powers desired peace at any price, and when Hitler announced his intentions as limited to bringing Germans under German rule, the western nations found the excuse they were looking for. Leading British statesmen thought that all that remained to do was find out what Germany wanted in Europe and then make the best bargain to satisfy her by peaceful means.

Hitler's guess soon proved correct. In February 1938, Prime minister Chamberlain chose to begin the general exploration for the basis "on which we might build up a general scheme of appeasement." But Chamberlain was an honorable man dealing with a ruthless liar. Promises from Hitler were bait. Agreements or pacts were merely temporary. Hitler stated that he could conclude any pact and be ready to break it the next day in cold blood if that was in Germany's interest. Appeasement was the trap into which Hitler was leading the west - as Russia would like to do today.

Chamberlain believed he could "do business with Hitler," and sent Lord Halifax to commence the policy of appeasement. That worthy gentleman was told by Goering that Germany considered as essential policy the incorporation into the Reich of Austria, the German-inhabited part of Czechoslovakia called the Sudetenland, and the German part of Poland. Halifax replied that England wished to have all questions affecting Germany and her neighbors settled by peaceful means. That would depend very much upon England, replied Goering. "Germany does not wish to go to war on these issues, but they must be settled in all circumstances."

And The Blackmail Starts

Chamberlain was apparently pleased with Halifax's meetings with Goering and Hitler, for he recorded, "I don't see why we shouldn't say to Germany, 'give us satisfactory assurances that you won't use force to deal with the Austrians and Czechoslovakians and we won't use force to prevent the changes you want, if you get them by peaceful means.'"

That was the end of November 1937. On March 3, 1938, British Ambassador Henderson told Hitler that Britain in effect washed her hands of Austria, provided the outcome could be designated a "reasonable solution reasonably achieved." On March 12 German troops crossed the border to "preserve order." In Austria. That night the government buildings were seized in Vienna to the strains of "Today we have all Germany, tomorrow we have the world."

But perhaps the rest of Europe didn't choose to hear those fateful words."

ONE Look

Yes, a look will show you why it's Ford for Fashion, again for '50! Once again Ford's modern styling earned it the Fashion Academy's coveted medal as "Fashion Car of the Year." No other car at any price has received such an honor 2 years in a row.

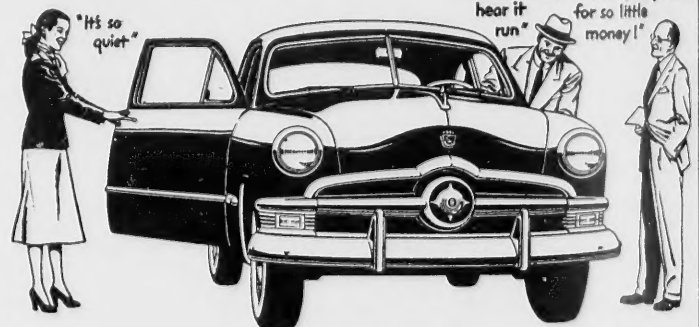

"It's the Fashion Car of the Year!"

"And it costs so little to buy"

ONE Listen

You can hardly hear the '50 Ford's powerful V-8, or its companion in quality, the 95-h.p. Six—both are "hushed" to a whisper. Your ride is quiet, too, because "sound-conditioning" throughout Ford's roomy and sturdy "Lifeguard" Body keeps noise out!

"It's so quiet"

"You can hardly hear it run"

"And you go so far for so little money!"

ONE Ride

One "Test Drive" and you'll know the luxury comfort of Ford's "Mid Ship" Ride... the safety of its "Lifeguard" Body and King-Size Brakes... its big car roadability. Then check Ford's low first cost, great mileage, low upkeep and high resale value. You'll agree—Ford's the "Big Economy Package" of the low-price field.
